Masculino y femenina

All Spanish nouns (people, places, or things) are either masculine or feminine.

In Spanish, masculine nouns use the definite article _____.

In Spanish, feminine nouns use the definite article _____.

Both el and la mean “_____” in English.

Use these general guidelines for determining the gender of a noun in Spanish:

1. Spanish nouns ending in _____ and _____ are usually masculine.
ejemplos: el cuaderno, el libro
2. Spanish nouns ending in _____, _____, _____ and _____ are usually feminine.
ejemplos: la regla, la Navidad, la libertad, la transportación, la mansión
3. Days of the week and months of the year are masculine.
ejemplos: el jueves, el sábado
4. The meaning of some Spanish nouns determines the gender of that word. For example, señor is masculine because it refers to a man. Señora is feminine because it refers to a woman.
5. Some nouns that refer to people have identical masculine and feminine forms. Use el or la to determine the gender.
Ejemplos: el turista, la turista, el estudiante, la estudiante
6. Some Spanish nouns don't follow a particular rule. The gender of these words needs to be memorized as exceptions.
ejemplos: la mano, el mapa, el clima, el día, el sofá

Práctica:

_____ comunidad	_____ escuela	_____ país	_____ foto(grafía)
_____ maleta	_____ conversación	_____ mano	_____ mapa
